2013

WINE ENTHUSIAST

90

POINTS

Enticing scents suggesting wild red berry, forest floor, rose and a whiff of new leather delicately waft out of the glass. It's ethereal, displaying sour cherry, pomegranate and a hint of white pepper set against racy acidity and taut, refined tannins. Some may find this too delicate but if you like wines with finesse and restraint, you'll love it once it reaches full maturity. Drink after 2023.

Aromas of watermelon and cherry. Some citrus, too. Medium to full body, firm and silky tannins and a fresh finish. More delicate yet firm style of the vintage. Drink now.

Delicate wild berry, underbrush, clove and grilled herb scents waft from the glass. The palate is ethereal and light-bodied, offering red cherry, pomegranate, and cinnamon flavors with a touch of game. Tangy acidity and supple tannins make it approachable now. Drink through 2020.

Tasted blind. Maturing, mid ruby with bricky rim.
Stalky and reductive on the nose and still quite closed on the palate. No immediate gratification here, although the fruit is concentrated, elegant and with fine powdery tannins.

Just mid ruby with orange rim. Tight cherry note with a hint of leather and iron. Embryonic, energetic cherry fruit with grainy tannins clinging to it.

Traditional yet complex, although the leathery note might become more prominent with age...

Auch so ein Klassiker für Freunde eines traditionsbewussten Brunello: feinwurzige Nase mit Noten von Beeren und Leder: am Gaumen saftig, die Gerbstoffe kompakt und gut eingebunden, lebendige Säure, die den Wein trägt. Traditionelle Machart, von grosser Eleganz.

This gem of an Estate delivered a smooth and vibrant 2009 Brunello. It boasts aromas of chocolate-covered cherries accented with truffle, leather, mint and balsamic notes that all carry over to the palate alongside mocha on the back. The juicy fruit is supported by just enough fresh acidity and bracing tannins.

THE WORLD OF
FINE WINE

---

NB | Medium-deep, holding the ruby hue, though ripe. On the palate, it is concentrated, long, and almost thrusting, orchestrated very much around the fruit qualities, which are ringing, resonant, and concentrated. There is a little more tannin than in many, though it's soft and unabrpt. Another very good wine.

Pretty floral notes rise to the top: lavender and pressed rose. That intense floral element gives the wine an elegant, sophisticated personality that's tight and structured, with great balance between firm tannins and bright acidity.

Appellation Brunello di Montalcino. Tuscany, Italy

Varietal Sangiovese

This seductive Brunello portrays aromas of black fruit, vanilla, brown sugar, plums and prunes wrapped within a thin veil of smoke. It's a wine that reaches a comfortable level of intensity and balance and that offers mouth-puckering flavors of sour cherry on the finish.

Appellation. Brunello di Montalcino. Tuscany, Italy

Varietal: Sangiovese

This ruby-colored Brunello is intact and balanced despite the heat of the 2003 vintage. The fruit aromas here are bright and vibrant and the wine also offers elegant shadings of mineral and cola. The tannins are a tad astringent but do not distract too much.

Appellation: Brunello di Montalcino, Tuscany, Italy

Varietal: Sangiovese

There's a unique exotic quality to this wine that translates into red cherry, spice, dark peach, incense and sandalwood. Medium-bodied but extremely flavorful and tangy in the mouth, with integrated tartness and supple tannins. Imported by Tosco wines.
