Trinkvergnügen auf tollem Niveau, strahlt Wärme aus, schönes Fruchtspiel, samtige Süße, Küchenkräuter, fein.

Crocedimezzo 2014 Rosso di Montalcino Palish ruby.
Very subdued on the nose and super-fresh and almost linear on the palate. Light of weight, but with proper length. Delicious.
The perfect summer red.

Interesting smoky notes - like chargrilled peaches and plums.

Sweet and spicy red berry and cherry aromas and flavours mingle with lemon peel and bergamot. Balanced and refreshing.

Saturated dark red. Fresh, grapey aromas of kirsch, licorice and menthol border on override. Then surprisingly fresh and juicy in the mouth, but with a youthfully stunted quality to the red fruit and licorice flavours. The slightly tough tannins reach the front teeth. For a wine that declares only 13% alcohol, this struck me as a tad hot, but there's plenty of underlying fruit and structure. I'd forget about this one until the summer of 2015 and see what happens.
